JOY OVER POWER PLANT REJECTION

DELIGHTED residents and councillors from a South Staffordshire village are celebrating after plans for a controversial processing plant were unanimously rejected.

Green power firm Farmgen had hoped to build a 500kw electricity generator on Dunston Heath Farm, near Penkridge.

by Tim Spiers

It was half the size of an application previously rejected in 2010, but at a South Staffs Council planning meeting on Tuesday night, the scheme was thrown out yet again.

Concerns had been raised over extra traffic the plant would have brought to the village, while the Highway Agency, Network Rail and Stafford MP Jeremy Lefroy also voiced oppositions.

Other objections included concerns that the plant would ruin the landscape of the village, cause loss of wildlife and increase noise pollution.

Councillor Leonard Bates, representing Penkridge North East, said it was strange that Farmgen had bothered to resubmit the scaled-down plans.

Victory

"It's all a bit strange as the application was almost a repeat of the original, but thankfully the decision was unanimous," he said.

"There were a big number of councillors opposed to this and it had caused a lot of concern.

"It's very much a victory for the village."

Campaigners also claimed that traffic around St Leonard's First School, on School Lane, was already bad enough and that large and heavy vehicles could put schoolchildren at risk.

Dunston resident Sarah Jones said everyone was delighted with the news.

She added: "We're just so relieved that it's not going to go ahead.

"The school's busy enough already so the plant was the last thing we needed."

Crops grown at the farm would have been used to produce biogas to power the processing plant.

Farmgen said the plant would have generated enough power for 1,000 homes.

Dunston parish councillor Gary Pliva added: "The whole village was against it.

"It would have spoiled this little village and community.

"We hope that'll be the last of it now."

When they put this new application in they didn't change any of the other plans apart from making it a bit smaller.

"Things like this are fine if they're in the right place but it would have caused too many problems for the village.

"The railway bridge should have a 20-ton limit on it was well so it wouldn't have been practical."

Farmgen said discussions were ongoing as to whether an appeal would be made against the decision.

Residents enjoy vintage relay

The School Court Olympic torch relay team pictured with the vintage cars that were used to transport it around

WHILE thousands of people jog round the country carrying the Olympic torch, residents from a Hednesford retirement home transported their own version in comfort and style.

As part of the ExtraCare Olympic relay, which has seen residents take part in various sporting-themed activities, pensioners from School Court passed the baton to Birmingham in a range of classic motor cars. The torch is on a 715-mile resident relay around Extra Care's 30 residential schemes and villages.

Challenge

Cars for the journey were donated by classic motor enthusiast John Pointon

During their three days with the torch, School Court residents also took part in a mini Olympic challenge, which included tennis, darts and bowling.

Administrator Lynn Keatley said: "It was a brilliant day which also included a picnic in the park and everyone enjoyed themselves.

"And the residents loved being driven around in the classic cars, which were very kindly donated for the day."

Talent on show in follow the dream bid

THE BEST of the talent Cannock has to offer will compete to win £1,000 at a grand finals night at the Prince of Wales Centre.

Seven youngsters have been lined up to compete in Follow That Dream, which takes place on Saturday, September 22.

Each finalist will perform twice before a panel of judges in a bid to win the cash. The prize money will go towards their first-year expenses on a performing arts course.

Other entertainment will come from Beyond the Barricade singers, as well as performers from Ovation – under the direction of Cannock born West End star Andy Reiss.

Funds raised from the night will go towards The Melanie Till Memorial Fund, which is run by Bryan Till.

Choir

It was set up to remember the life of school teacher Melanie, who died in a car accident in 2008.

In 2010 the charity organised A Schools' Celebration in Song, where children from several schools performed alongside BBC Last Choir Standing finalists Dreemz.

Tickets cost £12 for adults or £40 for a family. The show gets under way at 7.30pm.

Call the Church Street centre's box office on 01543 578762 to book. Tickets are also available from Bryan Till on 01543 468070.

Worker facing theft charges

A STAFFORDSHIRE Probation Service worker appeared before Cannock magistrates charged with theft of more than £120,000.

Gillian Marshall, aged 56, of Teddesley Park, Penkridge, faces six charges of theft between April 2005 and November 2010. She was bailed for crown court committal on July 24.

Milestone as school celebrates 100 years

EX pupils and staff are invited to join in the celebrations as a Cannock school celebrates 100 years.

Bridgtown Primary School marks its many centenary with a week of festivities from June 18-22 and wants as many people from its past as possible to help it celebrate.

Village historian David Williams, who was headmaster at the school for 27 years, has penned a 24-page booklet on the school, which will be given to all current pupils.

He said the first school in Bridgtown, dating back to 1874, was attached to St Paul's Church in Church Street. However, June 24 marks the centenary of its move to the present North Street site.

Excited

Present head Jo Raybould said she was looking forward to the week. "It's a milestone being 100 years, particularly as in the 70s there was a fight to keep the school open. We are all excited about it," she said.

The celebrations include a display by the history group reliving former pupils' memories.

A commemorative mosaic will be unveiled on Wednesday, while youngsters will be recreating a classroom of old as well as dressing up through the decades.

Anyone wishing to join in with the celebrations should call the school on 01543 510201.

Raiders strike at village store

TWO raiders held up a Cheslyn Hay convenience store. The robbers struck at the Co-Op in High Street, at 10.10pm on April 26. They left with a large haul in coins and walked off towards Cross Street.

Police think they may be from the West Midlands area. Call Dc Christopher Lovatt on 101.

Armed forces given free leisure use

A TRUST which has taken control of leisure centres in Cannock Chase has agreed to grant the armed forces free use of facilities,.

Proposals to scrap fees for serving personnel are now expected to be rubber-stamped by Cannock Chase Council's cabinet. Bosses at Wigan Leisure & Culture Trust confirmed they have offered to meet the cost of the move.

There are 114 military servicemen and women living in the district, according to the latest census, who are set to benefit.

Currently army, navy and air force personnel are charged £25 a month, £5 cheaper than full price.

If every member of the armed forces in Cannock signed up for leisure centres, removing the fees would cost the trust £34,200 in lost revenues in the first year.

Council leader George Adamson welcomed the trust's offer. "We have been in talks with Wigan Leisure & Culture Trust about this and they have kindly said they will meet the cost for the first year," he said.

"I'm sure the cabinet will approve these plans - it's a 'thank you' for the service these people give for their country."

Wigan spokesman David Taylor said: "A report is due to be discussed at the next meeting of cabinet which outlines proposals to give current serving members of the armed services, living in Cannock Chase, free health and fitness membership. This would give access to the gym, swimming and group exercise classes.

"Should our partners at Cannock Chase District Council approve this proposal the trust will be more than happy to cover the cost for delivering and implementing this initiative."

Parking fee rise helps boost council coffers

THOUSANDS of pounds in extra parking charges were raked in by Cannock Chase Council in the first month after a fee increase came into effect, new figures reveal.

Drivers using car parks in Cannock and Rugeley paid £2,621 more in April than for the same month in 2011.

Price rises came into effect on April 1, with parking for up to two hours up 10p to £1.10 and the rate for two to three hours climbing to £2.70, from £2.40.

Council leader George Adamson said the new rates had not deterred shoppers.

And he repeated his claim that the authority would have been forced to increase council tax if parking charges had not gone up.

"When we were canvassing for the May elections, a lot of people said they were very grateful the council tax had been frozen," he said.

"Putting the car park prices up does not appear to have made any difference to footfall in either Cannock or Rugeley town centres."

The new charges apply to car parks in Beecroft Road, Backcrofts, Danilo Road, and Avon Road, Cannock.

In Rugeley, motorists are paying more at Forge Road, St Paul's Road, the Market Hall, Taylor's Lane, Market Street and Lichfield Street.

Jump

In all these car parks prices have risen 40p for three to four hours, to £3.60.

Parking between four and five hours has jumped from £8 to £9 and motorists using car parks for five to six hours have seen the price go from £10.50 to £11.50.

The annual season ticket is unchanged at £450.

All-day parking at Cannock Railway Station has gone up from £1.60 to £1.80.

Shoppers may be dealt a further blow, with plans to roll out charging for on-street parking in Cannock Chase town centres.

Website for food safety ratings is relaunched

A FOOD hygiene rating website for Staffordshire which names and shames underperforming restaurants, pubs and hotels is to re-launch next week.

The www.rateymyplace. org.uk website has been helping people in the region to find out whether food businesses have good hygiene standards.

From next week, instead of stars for good practice, food safety inspectors are now awarding businesses a rating of between 0 and 5, with five being very good.

Cannock Chase Council, in partnership with other authority's across Staffordshire has been involved in the redesign of the website to tie in with the Food Standards Agency's national Food Hygiene Rating Scheme.

Councillor George Adamson, leader of Cannock Chase Council said: "The website is a useful resource for food businesses, as it gives customers information about where eateries are, what types of food they serve, as well as a map and directions to help hungry diners to find them."

Rate My Place is also available on mobile phones that have online access.

Artwork is pic of the bunch

ASPIRING young artists are taking centre stage at an annual exhibition. Six talented youngsters from Norton Canes High School have had entries selected for display at Stafford's Shire Hall Gallery.

Their pieces are among 15 which are being exhibited until July 8. Norton Canes pupil Stacey Holmes, aged 12, was awarded top prize and a £50 cheque. Alexina Evans, head of art and design at the Burntwood Road school, said staff were delighted with students' efforts.

She said: "The children did the work in their own time and so while obviously it's a real credit to the department, it is also a credit to the children themselves."

The Shire Hall Gallery competition exhibition is in its 22nd year.

Men get bail over car parts charges

TWO men accused of breaking stolen cars up for parts have appeared in court.

Sean Stone, aged 45, of Squirrel Close, Huntington, Cannock, appeared at Walsall Magistrates Court with Emerson Nightingale, 37, of Edinburgh Avenue, Bentley, Walsall.

The case relates to a police raid at premises in Wood Street, Willenhall, last September, when parts from allegedly stolen cars were found.

Stone faces six charges of dishonestly receiving stolen goods.

The charges span from September 2008 until September last year and involve cars worth £26,000 ranging from white Ford Transit vans to Land Rover Defender and Discovery models and a Volkswagen Golf.

He also faces a charge of producing 15 cannabis plants worth £4,200.

Nightingale is charged with receiving a stolen Ford Transit van worth £3,500 and a motorbike worth £1,500.

The case was adjourned on August 1 for committal to crown court. The pair were granted unconditional bail.

Silent disco at ballroom

A SILENT disco will be held in Cannock to increase awareness of noise nuisance.

The unusual event is being staged on June 22 during Noise Action Week at the district council's ballroom in Beecroft Road, Cannock.

Headphones will be hired out for a refundable deposit of £5 and will provide party-goers with a choice of Motown, soul, funk, rock, indie and chart anthems through three channels.

Councillor George Adamson, leader of the council, said: "This is the time to consider noise problems in your area."

The disco, for over-21s, will take place from 9pm to 1am. Tickets are £6 in advance, or £7 on the door. Any profit made will be donated to charity.

Letter by Palace to residents

THE Queen's Jubilee weekend was made extra special for the residents of a Great Wyrley care home – thanks to a personal letter from the Royal household.

Residents on the Buttermere unit at Lakeview Care Home, in Stafford Road, put pen to paper to send their best wishes to Her Majesty on her special year. The letter thanked the Queen for the enjoyment she had given them over the past six decades and requested a photograph to add to a jubilee collage that has been created at the home.

They were delighted to received a written response from Buckingham Palace.

The letter, sent on behalf of the Queen, was addressed to all Lakeview residents.

It came with a double-sided photograph, with a picture of the coronation on one side and an image of the Queen in her jubilee year on the other.

Activities co-ordinator Rosalyn Matthews, who has been helping residents to compile the diamond jubilee collage, said: "Everyone was thrilled when we received a reply – some of our residents were even moved to tears.

"The letter and the pictures will make a very nice display on our unit."

Fun feast at village fete

A HOST of activities have been laid on for this year's village fete at St Michael's Church in Penkridge.

The fete queen will kick off proceedings at 1pm on Saturday (June 16) in the grounds of the Haling Dene Centre, Cannock Road.

Entertainment will come from a community choir, a gymnastics group and karate club. Staffordshire Performing Arts will also be there, along with Gentleshaw Birds of Prey.

Stalls will include coconut shy, bric-a-brac, face painting, cakes, plants and books.

Car park calls at Chasewater

CALLS have been made for a car park on the Burntwood side of Chasewater after a through road shut for good.

Pool Road closed for dam repairs, but will not reopen.

With only parking space on the Brownhills side of the site, Councillor Eric Drinkwater said: "They ought to provide a car park on the Burntwood side too."

Race for Life fundraisers pretty in pink

Ladies gather for the start of the Race For Life at Walsall Arboretum

THOUSANDS of fundraisers sporting wigs, leg warmers, tutus and feather boas transformed Walsall Arboretum into a sea of pink for the town's second Race For Life event.

Organisers said they were delighted with the turnout for the 2.5km fundraiser, which has pulled in £125,000 from sponsorship cash for the charity Cancer Research UK.

There was laughter and tears among the 2,600 runners and walkers who wore dedications on their backs to loved ones who had lost their lives to cancer.

Archaeolgist Katie Hall, who finished second in around 20 minutes, returned from Cambridge, where she is studying for a PhD, to take part in the event with her mum, a cancer survivor.

Started

Health visitor Elizabeth Hall, aged 52, of Salisbury Drive, Cannock, underwent a double mastectomy three years ago after contracting breast cancer. She was cheered on by husband Keith, aged 57, after walking the course with her friend Susan.

The race was officially started by another cancer survivor, businesswoman Mandy Walker.

The 51-year-old mother-of-three, who discovered she had cervical cancer through a routine smear test almost five years ago, also walked the course.

Walsall Arboretum Race 4 Life organiser Victoria Meikle said: "We're delighted to see so many women and children take part."

NO-ONE should be surprised that Whitehall is moving the car-tax goalposts. First, it adjusted car tax to reward lean, green little vehicles. The result is that some car owners now pay no road tax at all. Now it emerges that, tucked away in the small print of the Budget is a hint that the tax thresholds will be adjusted "to ensure that all motorists continue to make a contribution to the sustainability of the public finances." This is not a party issue. Labour and the Tories are past masters at so-called fiscal drag, the art of leaving taxes at the same level but lowering the threshold at which we pay them.

❐❐❐❐❐❐❐

THE best bit of the Jubilee? With hindsight, although the river pageant was brilliant and the concert fine, the real treat was seeing all those private cine films from the early days of the Royal Family, kept secret for the past 60-odd years. A Jubilee Tribute to the Queen (BBC1) did more to show the normal, caring, family side of the Windsors than any amount of toadying documentaries. I'm amazed, given the propaganda value of these treasures and the many crises the family has been through, that they haven't been released before.

❐❐❐❐❐❐❐

THE programme was presented by the Prince of Wales who, lest we forget, is only 63. He could pass for at least 73 and in this programme he seemed hesitant, emotional and doddery. In his 20s, Prince Charles was working hard at being middle-aged. The trouble with acting older than your years is that it's hard to switch off. At this rate, he'll soon look more like the Queen's brother than her son.

Talks to be held over future site of library

CRUNCH talks about the future of Cannock Library are to be held in the next week after it emerged it may be moved to the town's South Staffordshire College campus.

By Harry Gottschalk

Staffordshire County Councillor Patrick Corfield said he will be meeting Graham Morley, the chief executive of South Staffordshire College, to see if there is room for a new library at the site.

But Councillor Corfield insists Cannock Library will only relocate if better premises can be secured and it may stay in Manor Avenue.

He said: "The bottom line is the library is safe, I use it myself once a week.

"If the college can offer us something bigger and better, than that's great, but there is no problem with the current library."

Added

Councillor Corfield said the library is successful in providing a range of activities including tots time, kids club, wi-fi access and computer lessons.

He added any relocation would aim to provide additional space and resources.

The campus building is set to undergo a £6 million redevelopment. Under the proposals a glass-roofed atrium will be installed at the centre of the building, a former mining college, and extensions housing staircases will be built on the left and right hand sides.

Bosses at the college say they want to create a lighter, more modern learning environment.

The college is contributing £4m of its own funds to the project while the Government's Skills Funding Agency will provide the remaining £2m.

Work is due to get under way redeveloping the building in the summer and is due to be completed by September 2013.

There are no plans to increase enrolment numbers at the campus which is home to 1,700 students.

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson said he is unsure how feasible moving the library would be.

Store's charity launch marked with fun day

STAFF at a Rugeley shop have celebrated the launch of a new charity partnership with Macmillan Cancer Support by taking part in a five-mile walk and hosting a day of fun and celebrations.

In support of the new partnership, 20 team members from the Wilkinson's store, Market Street, walked around the Shugborough Hall grounds and also hosted an in-store party which raised £600.

Store manager Maureen Averns said: "We couldn't be more pleased that we are supporting Macmillan Cancer Support, which we as a team nominated to be our regional charity of the year. At Wilkinsons we have always been avid charity supporters and have supported Children's Hospices UK, Anthony Nolan and AGE UK and we are really pleased to now be supporting Macmillan."

Care worker to the rescue

Paul Roberts with meals-on-wheels worker Heather Short at his Cannock home

A MEALS-on-wheels worker saved a retired postman who had collapsed at his Cannock home.

Pensioner Paul Roberts had fallen and lay on the floor of his lounge for 12 hours, unable to get up. On her rounds the next day, Heather Short alerted police after he did not answer the door.

Paramedics broke in and found him semi-conscious and severely dehydrated. The 70-year-old was taken to hospital and has now made a full recovery. Heather, aged 46, based at Icare's meals-on-wheels regional headquarters in Hednesford, said: "I had a gut instinct something was wrong when Paul didn't answer the door.

"I rang him and got no response, and that's when I contacted the emergency services. I was just happy we were able to help."

Mr Roberts said: "I kept trying to get up but I couldn't manage it. I was getting sore and tired so I decided to wait where I was and conserve my energy. I was very grateful to Heather for doing what she did."

Firm on move to base at campus

A LEADING civil engineering company is moving its training base to Penkridge and intends to increase its number of construction apprentices.

Hewlett is relocating from the i54, off Stafford Road near Junction 2 of the M54 motorway, to a site at South Staffordshire College's Rodbaston campus. The firm will have the capacity to train up to 30 apprentices a month at its new base, compared to 18 previously.

Bosses say the new location gives them greater access to trainees and doubles the training area, which replicates the operational environment of a real construction site.

Permanent

The company only moved to the i54 site in 2010. However, it worked out of temporary buildings on a short-term lease, using the land to train apprentices until it was required by a permanent developer.

Steve Vickers, Hewlett's training manager, said the college site was more suitable, adding there continued to be a need for construction workers.

"Plans for construction are central to any strategy for future growth," he said.

How firm's fluid design helps track down rail cable thieves

How the fluid shows up on skin

A RUGELEY technology firm has designed a traceable fluid that has already helped with the conviction of cable thieves, who are costing the UK more than £16 million a year.

RedWeb Technologies, which is in Venture Point Tower Business Park, has created an indelible fluid that's applied to the surface of metal. The spray works by transferring on to the skin, clothing or hair of a thief and remains detectable for more than six months.

The forensic taggent contains a unique code that is traceable to the location of where the spray was applied to the metal. The fluid will glow bright red under a UV light, signalling that the suspected criminal had an involvement with the theft by coming into contact with the dye.

The firm is working alongside the British Transport Police. According to the Transport Committee, more than 35,000 National Rail services were cancelled or delayed as a result of metal theft last year.

Assisting

RedWeb managing director Chris Taylor said: "We are very pleased to be helping the police in catching these criminals who are affecting everybody in one way or another.

"We hope that our forensic taggent is assisting the police with irrefutable evidence in order to secure convictions." The fluid recently led to a conviction in Wales, where the culprit's hands showed evidence under an ultraviolet light of coming into contact with the cable that had been stolen.

Mark Langman, route managing director for Network Rail, said: "Cable theft causes massive disruption to rail passengers and freight. These crimes aren't just an inconvenience; they are costing our economy millions of pounds each year."

RedWeb Technologies is the only forensic taggent supplier to hold a British Standard Institution accreditation for its analysis laboratory. For more information, visit www.redwebsecurity.com

Take business plunge with market's cheap stall offer

MARKET bosses in Penkridge are charging a cheap rate of £10 a stall to encourage people to take the plunge into business.

The idea, championed by high street guru Mary Portas, will be rolled out at the popular site on June 23, which has been designated as National Markets Day.

Market manager Matt Williams said: "We know how tough it is to set up a business during this difficult economic climate, but a market stall is a great way to try out ideas and get customers' feedback, without it costing very much.

"The market attracts up to 5,000 people, so it's a great place to start a new business."

Mr Williams will also be on hand throughout the day to give prospective stallholders information about setting up a permanent pitch.

Kay Bishop, aged 28, set up her cupcake stall at Penkridge a year ago.

Idea

"Having a market stall has been an inexpensive and low risk way of me setting up my business," she said.

"The market is a great place to try out any business idea without spending a lot of money."

Usual charges for the stalls start from £25.

Ms Portas has been commissioned by the Government to revive Britain's ailing high streets and her market initiative is part of a raft of measures she has come up with.

Under another scheme, Wolverhampton was named as one of 12 areas across the country to win £100,000 of investment and support from Ms Portas.

The city fought off stiff competition as a total of 370 other locations clamoured for a slice of the £1.2 million Portas Pilot funding pot.

Pub pals to get rounds in at golf fundraiser

FOUR pub regulars will play a gruelling day of golf to raise cash in the name of a cancer sufferer.

Paul Bywater, Kevin Varty, Martyn Davis and Paul McGuinness will play four 18-hole rounds in the day in aid of MacMillan Cancer Research.

The quartet are part of the golf society at the Ascot Tavern pub in Longford Road, Cannock, and will take up the challenge after a fellow member's partner was diagnosed with cancer.

Paula Bywater has stage three breast cancer.

The challenge on June 29 will see them play for 16 hours, completing 72 holes.

They will play at Brocton Golf Club, which has donated the use of the course and its facilities.

Golf society organiser Mr Varty said: "We were shocked to hear about Paula and wanted to help.

"It won't be an easy task, but we're all really looking forward to it.

"We've already received a lot of support."

Boss hopes bistro has success recipe

Raising a glass outside Bistro 95 in High Green, Cannock, are John Ashmore, back, with assistant manager Joey Brereton, head chef Lyndon Sims and, front, director Mark Medley

A BISTRO has opened its doors in Cannock, creating around 15 jobs.

Husband and wife team John and Jo Ashmore have opened their third restaurant in the county, unveiling their latest venture last week.

Bistro 95, in High Green, follows The Yorkshireman, Rugeley, and 1709 The Brasserie, Lichfield. Mr Ashmore told how the couple were riding out the storm of recession with their recipe for success.

Bistro 95 was virtually sold out for its opening night last Thursday.

"It has been noticeable that it has been slightly quieter, it is not an easy time," the 44-year-old said. "We use as much locally sourced stuff as we can and it's high quality food at a decent price. We are hoping Cannock will be successful.

"We have had a lot of interest from people who live in the area who have been to our other restaurants."

Father faces prison after girl's death guilty plea

THE father of a girl who died seven years after she was injured as a baby, has pleaded guilty to her manslaughter and is now facing jail.

Caitlin Wetton, who suffered from cerebral palsy, died in hospital on June 4, 2010. Her dad Paul Slattery, aged 32, shook her when she was just eight-weeks-old.

by Marion Brennan

He was arrested last Thursday night after failing to make a scheduled appearance at court earlier in the day. He had been expected to deny the charge and a trial date had already been set for July 16.

But Wetton changed his mind at the eleventh hour after finally appearing in court on Friday. He was remanded in custody until July 13 when he will be sentenced.

Injuries

Caitlin, one of twin girls, was born in September 2002. The shaking took place at the family home at Glenthorne Drive in November that same year, causing the injuries which eventually led to Caitlin's death at Walsall Manor Hospital.

Slattery was living with the baby's mother Michelle Wetton at the time. He later moved to Scotland.

Slattery wore a cream-coloured jumper and chinos when he appeared before a judge at Birmingham Crown Court. He spoke only to enter a guilty plea.

He last appeared in court on May 18 when he was released on conditional bail. He had travelled from his home in Leven, Fife.

An application for bail this time around was turned down following his failure to appear on Thursday and a bench warrant issued for his arrest. Three police officers from Scotland were involved in a 10-hour round trip to bring him to court.

Barrowful of work for keeper James

STAFF at an army style training centre put a Great Britain hockey goalkeeper through his paces during an intensive workout session in preparation for the Olympic Games.

James Fair, Cannock and Great Britain goalkeeper, visited BC One CrossFit, Cannock, for an intensive workout. He has 27 caps for Great Britain and 87 caps for England and is widely regarded as the best goalkeeper in the world.

He was joined by Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley, who also took part in the intensive workout. Ian Stanley, fitness instructor and owner of BC One CrossFit, which is situated at the former Bristols and Round Building, at Walford Works, Longford Road, put both men through their paces.

Park users hit out over area's 'shameful' state

Shopper Jean Chiltern in the park opposite the Asda supermarket

USERS of a community area bought by the supermarket Asda say it has become "shamefully" overgrown and litter-strewn.

They have complained that the parkland, opposite the Avon Road store, has piles of overflowing rubbish coming from bins and discarded bottles and food cartons strewn everywhere.

Two metal bins have been vandalised while shards of glass on the floor have made it dangerous for people to walk their dogs.

Concerned council officers called a summit meeting with Asda representatives to resolve the problem but the park has still not been cleaned up.

The supermarket took on responsibility to provide and maintain the park in 2005 as part of the conditions for being granted planning permission for the store.

Gretta Jukes, of Wolverhampton Road, Cannock, said: "I walk my dogs there twice a day and have seen it getting steadily worse. I've complained to Asda but they say their staff are not insured to clean it."

Great-grandmother Jean Chiltern, of Pye Green Road, Cannock, said: "There's litter everywhere."

Council leader George Adamson met Asda bosses at the site two weeks ago, accompanied by Cannock's corporate director Tony McGovern and Councillor Chris Mitchell. Councillor Adamson said: "Asda agreed it was in a poor state and promised to do something about it."

The way forward to have local plan

IN response to the recent Localism Bill, I suggest Hednesford Town Council is our first choice to be the appropriate forum for formulation of the Hednesford Neighbourhood Plan

I am aware each neighbourhood can only have one forum – and it is responsibility of Cannock Chase Council to agree which group should be our forum.

It is expected many new and existing residents' organisations, business and community groups could put themselves forward, however it must be that Hednesford Town Council remains the most appropriate one.

If there are no plans for it to nominate itself, I suggest it sets up a sub committee to consider the plan. If it acts soon the plan can meet all of the conditions and pass any independent checks. I am confident Cannock Chase will then bring it into force.

GRAHAM BURNETT
Hednesford resident

Why I am proud to be British

I WAS taking my granddaughter to school and seeing all the children dressed in red, white and blue made me feel proud to be British.

I felt rather proud of the schools and parents and their approach to the jubilee with regard to the celebrations.

It's important that everyone sex, colour or creed feels an attachment to the place where they live, your earliest memories – even the bad ones – come from that community. As a country we have our ups and downs, but altogether, Great Britain is amazing. I am proud we always stand together.

It is important to demonstrate pride in the qualities that makes our country such a great place where the rights of everyone is guaranteed. We should all be proud to acknowledge our country has produced some of the greatest scholars, athletes, professionals and heroes in the world, but the most significant reason to be proud is because of the fact we live in harmony with our neighbours.

This week, we will have celebrated the Queen's accomplishments and in two months we have the Olympics. I feel that everyone, whoever or wherever their roots are from should get behind these celebrations, and show the world what a great country we are.

New fire vehicle to improve the service

I WOULD like to clarify a few points made by Mr Colin Clift in his letter of May 31 concerning the new UNIMOG vehicle at Cannock Community Fire Station.

Firstly, and most importantly, I want to assure himthat the purchase was in no way 'flaunting' taxpayers money as it followed extensive research into what Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service required as well as considering best practice adopted by other fire and rescue services.

The UNIMOG has replaced several vehicles at the end of their lifespan. We sought the best single option to provide an effective and efficient long-term investment that would improve the capability. Though based at Cannock, it can, and has been used countywide – not just grass fires. It is also available to other services in a major incident. I am confident it will improve the service and I can assure the public the vehicle will be used countywide all year around.

What a great result!

MY wife and I went to Hednesford's jubilee celebrations last Saturday. Congratulations to all those who were involved in the organising of the event, including the Hednesford Traders and Friends of Hednesford Park. What a huge amount of work they all put in and what a great result. The town looked great and there was a tremendous atmosphere with lots of people there. They did the town proud.

Let's put our town on map

SO far this year we have had a superb remembrance to our mining heritage and an inspiring tribute to our Queen. Why stop there?

As Mike Mellor is accepting interests for the next phase of named bricks for our miners why can't we make it a regular feature as a Hednesford Gala. Hednesford is now being rebuilt for a new future. Let's put Hednesford on the map.

Anyone who agrees,' lets put it to our new Cannock Chase Council. We will find out if they are listening.

HELEN

Best not heard

THERE'S no doubt Cheryl Cole is a very attractive woman but after her recent performance at the Diamond Jubilee Concert calling herself a singer must contravene the trades description act. In my opinion the best job for Cheryl would be a corporate hospitality host where she can be seen and not heard.

Support for return of Festival Stadium

IN reply to council leader George Adamson's criticism of the previous Liberal administration over one of its failed policies, I would like to give him my support for re-establishing the 1951 Festival Stadium using some of the unused funds. Writing as a contemporary, he will no doubt recall our enjoyable junior school athletic days at the stadium in the 60s.

On separate matter, I would like to encourage him to use all his powers to re-establish a grammar school in Cannock. Perhaps this would be his greatest legacy, given that it was Labour and Liberal Socialist policies which brought about the closure of the majority ofstate grammar schools and is a major factor in the current emasculation our our "English" state education. It is no co-incidence he attended the said grammar school and is now the current council leader.

GRAHAM POWNEY, Wigston

Fitting tribute with all the celebrations

JUST a few lines to pay tribute to the diamond jubilee celebrations. Wow! what a fitting tribute to Her Majesty, the Great is back in Britain, even the weather could not dampen the enthusiasm of the crowds who camped and waited patiently to witness this spectacular event.

I, like many, watched the fantastic BBC coverage of the celebrations, truly Britain at its best! From the historic Dunkirk boats and Battle of Britain planes to top notch entertainers from the past six decades all put together with pyrotechnics and superb graphic images, all of this could only be topped by the cheering flag waving crowds.

God Save the Queen!

College pair to climb the heights for charity

Mat Bridger, left, and Stephen Lewis are going to climb the highest mountains in Britain to raise money for charity

TWO college workers in Cannock have set themselves a tall challenge to raise money for charity.

Construction technician Mat Bridger, from Cannock, and vehicle technician Stephen Lewis, from Hednesford, are attempting to climb the highest mountains in the UK to raise money for charities.

Both working at the Cannock campus of South Staffordshire College.

They will be supporting Marie Curie, Fsid (cot death) and Ickle Pickles (premature baby equipment) and hope to raise not just money but awareness for the organisations.

Stephen decided to get involved in fundraising when his son Jake was born six weeks premature and he also lost a nephew to cot death.

Supported by his colleague Mat, the two are now planning their journey, starting with the highest mountain the British Isles, Ben Nevis in Scotland, at 4,409ft and then onto Scafell Pike in England, at more than 3,000ft before attempting Snowdon in Wales, at 3,560ft.

Encourage

Stephen and Mat are training hard and making sure the equipment they need for their feat is ready. No date has been fixed for the climbs but they hope it will be in July.

With more than £150 already raised, the two are hoping to encourage friends, family, students and the local community to contribute by visiting www.justgiving.com/ukmountainchallenge and donating.

Stephen said: "We are both looking forward to the challenge and working hard to make sure we are fit and well prepared for all eventualities.

"Raising money for these particular charities is very close to our hearts and we hope to achieve our goal to finish the journey.

"We hope the money we raise will make a difference to people who need help in difficult times."

Home celebrates with help of store

CARE home residents in Hednesford held a party to celebrate the Queen's Jubilee – with help from supermarket chain Sainsbury's.

The Orbital Way store donated party food and drinks which colleagues dished up all day.

The 87 residents, their family and friends, were treated to hot pork baps or hot dogs, cakes and a glass of sherry.

Canalside walk by waterways group

A POPULAR canalside walk led by the Lichfield branch of the Inland Waterways Association takes place next Wednesday (June 20).

Dogs on leads are welcome for the circular two-and-a-half mile walk, which departs from the Stags Leap, Wolseley Road, Rugeley, at 6.30pm.

The walk is free although donations to the Association will be welcomed.

MEMORY LANE

by Cathy Spencer

Her Majesty was the first person to be sent a copy of the book that chronicles the history of the Walsall factory which, at its height, employed around 3,000 workers.

The company made light switches and was started in 1919 by John Ashworth Crabtree. It moved from the old leather works in Rushall Street to larger premises, named the Lincoln works after the former US President Abraham Lincoln – and steadily grew to become one of Walsall's largest employers.

The Lincoln works site closed in 1996 and a group the Crabtree Society was formed with the aim of keeping the memories from the factory alive.

Among the main authors of The Crabtree Story were Allan Preston, now aged 66, and Roy Spencer, 72, who joined the company as apprentices. It took 10 years to put the book together.

Allan says: "John Crabtree was an amazing person – not only was he a skilled businessman, engineer and designer but a wonderful artist as well."

The book was launched at the Lyndon House Hotel, the site of the old leather works where the business first began.

In 1919 John Crabtree started his search for suitable premises in Birmingham but Walsall become attractive due to a need for work in the town.

Within 12 months the company was employing around 100 staff producing the Crabtree Quick Make and Break light switch at the former leather works of John Leckie & Co. By 1923 the works in Rushall Street were so overcrowded that a music hall and disused church in the town were rented.

Roy says: "Those early days were hard and a diary of one of the workers, Cyril Summerton, told us how John Crabtree bought six packets of candles and a bag of scrap hexagon nuts to be used as candle holders so workers could see in the bad light. However, in 1920 he treated the staff to a fish and chip supper with bottles of Guinness."

In 1923 John Crabtree found a seven-acre site in Dark Lane, less than a mile from the Rushall Street factory.

The company had been family owned, but in 1972 it was taken over by Eveready and its shares were sold. The present owners are Siemens, and Crabtree is still a brand within the company.

Proceeds from the sale of the book will go to the Electrical and Electronics Industries Benevolent Association.

Tube still in place when hospital let patient go

NEW measures have been introduced at Stafford Hospital to assist medical staff after a patient was discharged with a tube for treatment still in place.

The serious incident, as it is known, took place two months ago and was revealed at a meeting of Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust board. The trust manages both Stafford and Cannock hospitals.

The patient left the hospital wearing a small tube, known as a cannula. The trust has now introduced new procedures as a guide to nurses.

Trust chiefs have altered its discharge check list following the incident.

It requires two registered nurses to sign that the patient has left the hospital without a cannula and new posters are being placed around wards, departments and corridors to raise awareness of the issue.

Removed

Other measures to ensure such incidents are not repeated are also being looked into.

Colin Ovington, director of nursing and midwifery, confirmed a patient was discharged from Ward 11 in April with an intravenous cannula. "The cannula was removed by the district nursing service," he said.

"This incident is being investigated in line with the lessons learned from previous never events investigations. The recommendations from this investigation will be integrated into the combined action plan."

Bosses also plan to address any training shortfall for non-registered staff.

Mr Ovington said there would be a final check in the discharge lounge in addition to the ward double check.

Help plea on hedgehogs

Joan Lockley, from the West Midlands Hedgehog Rescue centre in Cheslyn Hay, is urging residents to help them look after the creatures

PEOPLE are being encouraged to think about the welfare of hedgehogs during the summer months.

While humans enjoy basking in balmy conditions, Joan Lockley of the West Midlands hedgehog rescue centre in Cheslyn Hay says the hot and dry conditions are no picnic for hedgehogs.

She is urging people to put out food and water for the creatures on hot summer days. Mrs Lockley, aged 68, said seeing the nocturnal creatures during the day was a sure sign something was wrong.

"When it is very dry you do not get slugs and snails around which hedgehogs would normally eat," she said. "Cat or dog food is fine, as long as it doesn't have any fish in it, and a saucer of water will help them through the hot weather."

Playground to stay while appeal heard

The developers behind a controversial Cannock play area say their hands are tied about what to do with it as they await the outcome of an appeal. Members of Cannock Chase Council's planning committee ruled the play site at the heart of thes Park Farm residential estate, between Peregrine Way and Pheasant Way, has to be taken down.

After hearing from residents about how youths use the area for anti-social behaviour, the planning committee ruled that the site causes too much trouble for local residents. But Persimmon Homes is appealing against the verdict and is refusing to remove the play area until the appeal is heard.

Whimsical way of shopping at store

A NEW clothes store in Cannock where shoppers can get more than they bargained for is proving to be a hit. As well as selling alternative clothing Whimsical, run by Samantha Collett, offers reflexology, alternative therapies and even psychic readings.

The shop is based on North Street also sells candles, crystals, incense and jewellery. Mrs Collett said she wanted to offer something different to what was already available to Cannock shoppers. "It's going really well so far and customers have given us some great feedback," she added. Visit www.whimsicalclothes.com for more details.

Poetry plea by MP to schools

AN MP has written to every secondary school in the region to encourage students to answer the question "What does representation mean to you in 2012?"

Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley wants youngsters to get involved and contribute to Represent.

It is a collaborative poem which will be created as part of the Arts in Parliament programme this summer.

Represent is about people and their connection to parliament.

Mr Burley said: "I think Represent offers an exciting opportunity to talk about representation and what it means to get your voice heard.

"I am delighted that the poem will be shown in the historic setting of Westminster Hall during the Arts in Parliament programme this summer, and I would encourage everyone in Cannock Chase to get involved."

Midwife training backed

THE May meeting was our resolutions meeting and our celebration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

Members voted to support the national WI resolution, 'to call for the government to increase investment in the training and retention of midwives in England and Wales, to ensure services are adequately resourced and are able to deliver a high standard of care.

Then members, already dressed in jubilee costumes and colours, enjoyed a right Royal quiz, as well as a slice of our jubilee cake that was cut by our own "queen"' Margaret Beddard.

This was followed by a game of bingo which was won by Anne Bumford.

Play passion for Shirley Valentine

SOROPTIMIST INTERNATIONAL CANNOCK & DISTRICT

AUDREY Hall was the entertaining speaker with Taking Shirley Valentine to Greece, the story of her passion for the one woman play Shirley Valentine, written by Willie Russell, which began when Audrey first saw the play performed at the Grand Theatre, Wolverhampton in 1992.

Her performances have raised more thanr £4,000 for St Giles Hospice. In holiday in Skiathos, it occurred to Audrey that the Greek island would be the perfect place to perform the play.

With the help of her husband, Brian, friends in the UK and on the island and support from JMC Airlines, which flew direct from East Midlands to Skiathos, Shirley Valentine was, indeed, taken to Greece.

The airline transported everything for free and East Midlands Airport advertised the play to passengers flying to Skiathos, using a cut-out figure of Audrey/Shirley.

Audrey showed her skills as an actress and performer as she told how everything needed for the set was transported from the UK, how obstacles in Skiathos were overcome, and how the play was performed to full audiences in a beautiful garden with the sea lapping just a few metres away. Audrey, who became known as Shirley on the island, donated all proceeds from that show and from two of Alan Bennett's Talking Head plays she has performed, to charity.

She ended with a brilliant excerpt from Shirley Valentine and was thanked by president Pam McGauley for an entertaining talk – which was virtually a show performance in its own right. The club's donation to Audrey will be given to St Giles Hospice.

Helping with jubilee celebrations

CANNOCK LIONS, ROTARY AND SOROPTIMISTS

MEMBERS of the three clubs adecorated Cannock bandstands with flags and bunting and brought in plenty of entertainers to help the people of Cannock celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee on June 2.

Despite the lack of sunshine plenty turned out to hear Councillor Bob Todd, chairman of Cannock Chase Council open the event and then to listen to Britain's Got Talent finalist Jean Martyn on the organ.

Everyone enjoyed music through the decades played by DJs Ash and Joe, from AJ Sounds. Easy listening singer Trevor Santini had lots joined in with the songs. After the peal of bells from St Luke's Church a piper and drummer entertained, then Zumba-Rellas took to the stage. Shirley Brown sang her folk songs and Battle of the Bands winners Band Camp played. Trevor Santini and Greenwood Studios provided the sound system and support.

In the bandstand by the church lots enjoyed sitting down to watch pictures of Cannock from the 1950s provide by David Battersby and Mike Hewitt– and to enjoy tit-bits like bread pudding made from a 1950s recipe. Children were kept well entertained.

The finale came when singers Robert Follows and his daughter Lucy were joined Chase Orpheus Male Choir as everyone sang Land of Hope and Glory and the National Anthem.

The event was sponsored by Fire Safety Net and Jessica's Fresh Food.

Volunteers praised for helping heather return

VOLUNTEERS who helped in the recovery of an area of Cannock Chase destroyed by a huge have been thanked for their efforts.

Staffordshire County Council used the recent national Volunteers Week to praise the team.

In April 2010 a huge fire at Cannock Chase Country Park destroyed more than 50 hectares of heathlands.

But two years later the habitats are recovering thanks to the efforts of Staffordshire County Council's Community Volunteers.

They worked hard restoring the damaged heathland at Sherbrook banks by spreading heather cuttings by hand.

Seed from the cuttings has now germinated and healthy heather seedlings have returned once again restoring it to its former beauty.

Volunteers at work on the area of the Chase destroyed by fire

Lucky

County Councillor Mark Winnington, cabinet member for the environment, said: "This is a great example of the difference that volunteers can make to their local communities and surroundings.

"We are very lucky in Staffordshire as we have a vibrant volunteering community involved in a wide variety of activities."

He said the main concern was that new seedlings would not grow quickly enough to prevent fast-growing grasses from shading them out.

To overcome this there was a programme of heather seeding in the winter of 2010 using cut heather brash containing hundreds of tiny seeds.

"Although much of the work was done using heavy machinery there where areas which could only be done by hand and this is where our volunteers stepped in," he said.

"Without their help the programme may not have been successful, so a big thanks to them all."

Although the area covered by hand was relatively small in comparison to the 50 hectares affected, it was where seeding had the most chance of success, and has been one of the quickest areas to recover.

The volunteers where all members of The Environment and Countryside Community Volunteer Project which was established almost three years ago.

Since then, the project has engaged with more than 500 people in the care of the counties country parks and public rights of way.

NEWS in brief

Fellow artist Bob Russon will be displaying his work alongside Carole's at the Corridor Gallery at Lichfield Guildhall.

The exhibition runs from 10am to 5pm on June 22 and 23, with admission free. Both artists will be available to discuss their work.

Saddle up plea to women by Olympic cycling hopeful

WOMEN across Cannock Chase are being encouraged to get on their bikes as part of a national initiative later this month.

Olympic hopeful Laura Trott, a double world and European champion, is backing the Big Breeze Bike Ride, which takes place across the country on June 23/24.

Figures show that just one in 50 females saddle up once a week or more, with more than three times as many men getting on their bikes.

The national initiative has been set up by British Cycling to boost the numbers of women cycling.

Those across the Chase are being urged to take advantage by organising their own ride over the Chase, with as many as possible joining in.

A Breeze spokesman said: "We want women all over Cannock Chase to get together with their friends, family and colleagues and have fun on their bikes. This is the perfect opportunity to enjoy the Birches Valley Trail and the outstanding natural beauty of the Sherbrook Valley."

World champ Laura Trott

Laura Trott said: "I've cycled since I was a child and have always loved the freedom it's given me to go places. Riding my bike helps keep me in shape.

"Unfortunately I'm currently in the minority because a lot of girls have a fear factor about cycling.

"The Big Breeze Bike Ride is a great opportunity to get that confidence on two wheels, while having great fun with your friends."

Jill Puttnam, British Cycling's national operations manager for recreational cycling, said: "The Big Breeze Bike Ride is for every woman as it's fun and informal."

Chase home prices among the lowest of beauty spots

PROPERTY prices in Cannock Chase are among the cheapest of the UK's beauty spots, a survey found this week.

A study by Lloyds TSB of Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) found house prices in the UK's most picturesque places had risen by 87 per cent – or nearly £110,000 – in value over the last decade.

But while a house in the Surrey Hills will set you back an average £407,568, a home in Cannock Chase will only cost prospective buyers £136,774.

The survey looked at house prices over the last 10 years and found the average house price in official beauty spots of £235,215 in 2012 is around seven times higher than average gross annual earnings.

Surrey Hills is the most expensive AONB in England with an average house price of £407,568. The study used Land Registry sales figures for the 12 months to March.

Expensive

The most expensive beauty spots with their average house price are Surrey Hills, £407,568; High Weald, £329,441; Kent Downs, £320,090; Chilterns, £313,054; North Wessex Downs, £288,346; Cotswolds, £284,474. The least expensive are Lincolnshire Wolds, £128,608; Cannock Chase, £136,774; Dedham Vale, £152,737; Mendip Hills, £157,794; Quantock Hills, £160,142.

Lloyds TSB housing economist Suren Thiru said: "The relatively high property values in many of these locations reflect the quality of life benefits associated with living in some of our most idyllic beauty spots."

Free drink offer as firm marks 30th anniversary

THE public is invited to an open day as a Cannock business celebrates its 30th anniversary.

Norman Davies TV in Walsall Road, Bridgtown, first set up in nearby North Road in 1982 and has since extended to supply DVDs, aerials and even white goods.

A free drink is on offer for customers at the open day on Saturday (June 16) from 9am to 5pm. Call 01543 506834 for more.

Sweet smell of success

Victoria Richards won gold at the Chelsea Flower Show

A FLORIST tasted the sweet smell of success as she won a gold medal at the Chelsea Flower Show.

Victoria Richards, who works at Lavender Florist, in Clay Street, Penkridge, alongside her identical twin sister Jessica, impressed the judges with her ornate chandelier design created to commemorate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

It was the first time the 23-year-old, of Willenhall, has competed at the world-famous show. She was one of 15 young florists asked to create the design. Victoria's entry boasted a perspex frame wrapped in spools of wool and featuring a variety of orchids.

She said: "I'm over the moon. There's no secret, it's just lots of hard work and practice, plus training with some very good mentors."

BERT Coleman will give a talk on bird behaviour to the Cannock group of the Staffordshire Wildlife Trust. It takes place on Wednesday, June 20, from 7.30pm at St Luke's church centre. Entrance is £1.50.

England fans called to bar

Ex-Wolves star Steve Kindon at Bar Sport

ABOUT 800 supporters packed into a Cannock sports bar to see England kick off their Euro 2012 campaign.

And they saw former Wolves defender Joleon Lescott give his country the lead in the 1-1 draw against France.

Eager supporters started pouring into Bar Sport in High Green hours before the 5pm kick-off at Donetsk's Donbass Arena.

Spirits were high as fans cheered, clapped and sang throughout the match.

Many turned out wearing England shirts, while others painted their faces to show support for the nation. Punters downed around 4,000 pints while staff were kept busy serving almost 500 meals.

Former Liverpool and Republic of Ireland striker John Aldridge joined fans in The Premier Suite.

Aldridge, who scored 50 goals for Liverpool in 83 appearances, and is the sixth top scorer of all time in English football, gave his verdict to the fans at half-time and full-time.

The 53-year-old said the atmosphere had been much more tense than the night before when he had watched Ireland play against Croatia in a Dublin pub.

He said: "It's a very remote chance that England will win but you never know. They have a chance."

Former Wolves winger Steve Kindon also joined fans at the pub. The 61-year-old said the expectations on England were too high, but added: "If we qualify for the semi-finals it will be magic."

Bar Sport owner Scott Murray said the atmosphere had been full of excitement.

The 44-year-old said: "We have been pleasantly surprised. People have obviously booked the day off work to support their country."

He said 200 people had enjoyed a four-course meal in The Premier Suite, while hundreds more meals had been served up by staff elsewhere.

"We've also had one girl dressed in a French can-can outfit and the other in a red and white bikini for England," he said.

"It helps create a carnival atmosphere."

Through

Engineer Mark Purcull, 24, of Vermont Green, Cannock, went to the pub with a group of friends to watch the match.

He said: "I think England will get through the groups but will be knocked out after that."

Ian Kendrick, 52, of High Green, Cannock, said he thought England played better than expected.

The father-of-two, who runs Cannock Conservative Club, said: "When they scored, the atmosphere was electric. Whether they will go all the way or not, I don't know."

Torch will be used to start race

AN Olympic torch will be used to get the annual Penkridge fun run under way.

Leigh Rogers, founder of Penkridge & District First Responders, was chosen to carry the torch through Stafford. He will start the 2.5km run, organised by Penkridge and District Round Table at 11am on Sunday, June 24, from the Haling Dene Centre, Cannock Road.

The torch will be on display during the day and people can be pictured with it in return for a donation to the First Responders.

'Jobe's Law' petition by father gathers support

A FATHER who travelled across the world to find his son has got 5,000 signatures supporting a new law to make child abduction a thing of the past.

Sean Felton, from Norton Canes, is trying to push through new legislation, which he has termed 'Jobe's Law", which would place restrictions on parents across the country who want to take their children abroad.

In 2010, Sean travelled to a remote village in Thailand to track down his three-year-old son Jobe who was taken there by his wife Kim.

The 40-year-old decorator has visited Westminster to discuss Jobe's Law with his MP Aidan Burley. He has launched a Home Office petition which explains how Jobe's Law would work.

Separate

It says: "For any child under the age of 16 leaving the United Kingdom, both parents must go to the local police station to fill out a separate form with the address of where the child will be staying."

Sean has 5,000 signatures but he is confident the support will keep on growing.

He said: "There are over 500 children being abducted from the UK every year.

"Every three minutes a child goes missing in the UK. We are collecting 100,000 signatures to hand into number 10."

Building for the future

A HOUSING development built and named 60 years ago in honour of the Queen's coronation is providing a training ground for the next generation of construction workers.

Ryan Whitehouse and Tom Rowley, both aged 16, are the youngest apprentices to learn their trade at the Monarch Park development at Elizabeth Road in Cannock. The estate is being redeveloped during the Diamond Jubilee year. Waterloo Housing Association is working with Cannock Chase Council and housebuilder Lovell to provide 150 high-quality new homes.

Ryan is an apprentice bricklayer, Tom is training to be a carpenter. There are four further apprenticeships based at the site, specialising in civil engineering, plumbing and heating.

Bigger need for fostering

A RECRUITMENT drive has been launched to encourage more foster carers in Staffordshire. The county council says 65 extra foster families will be needed in the next three years. The council has launched a foster care charter setting out what foster families can expect. The county council offers carers extra money for clothing, as well as paying a fee to the family and an allowance for each child of between £172 and £631.

Fire service's car fleet could be cut

THE number of company cars given to senior officers at Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service could be reduced as part of a cost-cutting drive.

It follows a restructure of senior staff roles the authority.

The number of senior officers has been reduced from seven to two.

Now a working party will consider cutting the number of vehicles, currently at seven, to shave costs.

Following the re-structure there are now only chief fire officer Peter Dartford and deputy fire officer Chris Ennis.

They drive a 4x4 car and an Audi respectively.

A report for Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Authority this week says that a task group will meet over the next month to look at the number of executive cars.

Len Bloomer, chairman of the authority, said it was a potential cost-saving.

He said: "The position of the cars seemed to have been overlooked. We certainly do not need seven cars.

"The purchase of a car might cost between £20,000 and £40,000. "

It comes as bosses at the fire authority need to find savings of £4m by 2015.

Fourteen firefighters at Lichfield will lose a £5,000 annual allowance from next month.

Golfers chip in with tree

Captains Adam Ward and Laura Malpass plant the jubilee apple tree at Hawkesyard golf club

MEMBERS of a golf club near Rugeley got into the swing of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee with a competition and a tree-planting ceremony.

The aptly named the "flag" contest was held at Hawkesyard Golf Club on the Hawkesyard Estate. It was won by club captain Adam Ward, whose final shot finished just feet from the 18th hole. Afterward he and lady captain Laura Malpass planted a miniature apple tree just behind the 18th green. A plaque will be put at the foot of the tree.

Singer Joe battles back from the brink hit the road again

Joe Longthorne plays at the Prince of Wales Centre on June 30

ENGLAND may have been kicking off their Euro 2012 campaign against France, but singer Joe Longthorne had found a better way to pass the time, pottering around in his mini-menagerie.

The entertainer was taking time out before the latest date on his 63-date UK tour. At his home in the Bispham area of Blackpool, the 57-year-old enjoys looking after his hens and fish in grounds that also attract other creatures such as hedgehogs.

But this idyllic lifestyle has not always been so.

Brought up among travelling folk, Longthorne has also battled serious illness and bankruptcy. He was struck down with lymphoma, which later developed into leukaemia. He had a bone marrow transplant in 2006 and is grateful for the second chance that live has given him.

Despite his well-documented personal troubles, he spoke candidly of the problems that had set him back at the height of his fame. "There are people in this world that go without food or clothing and it has made more me aware and given me an insight of the problems that people face. It's not all about money and cars and mansions," he said.

Ahead of a date in Cannock on Saturday, June 30, Longthorne – who also suffers from dyslexia – told The Chronicle he had born to entertain.

His parents were both travelling showmen and, though he first made a name for himself as a teenager, he recalled the first time he performed in front of an audience was at the age of two.

Grounding

Longthorne's family settled in Hull once he was born. "Since then I've been the one doing the travelling," he said.

Indeed, by the end of 2012, he would have performed more than 150 worldwide shows this year alone to add to his UK dates.

An appearance on junior Showtime led to a tough grounding on the northern club circuit, but it was in 1981 that his big break came thanks to ITV's Search For A Star. This in turn led to appearances at the London Palladium, while Longthorne is the only person to receive three Variety Club awards, including a Lifetime Achievement accolade.

Now well and truly back on the comeback trail, last year saw the release of Longthorne's first album for 10 years, The Impossible Dream.

Songs from the album, plus new material and his famous vocal impersonations – like Shirley Bassey and Frank Sinatra – make up the current show, but he said he was just happy to be back on the road.

"I'm doing what I love to be doing, that's singing and entertaining," he said. "I've played at the Royal Albert Hall and Las Vegas so I think I've done well for myself."

Joe Longthorne appears at Cannock's Prince of Wales Centre on Saturday, June 30, from 7.30pm with support from comedian George King.

Tickets are £22 from the Church Street centre's box office on 01543 578762. He ends his tour, which kicked off on April 1, on December 16 with a performance at Walsall FC.

Cats' tale by school at theatre

HYDESVILLE Tower School provides the entertainment at the Prince of Wales centre in Cannock later this month.

The school, on Broadway North, Walsall, is presenting, in conjunction with Ambient Night Productions, the tale of Disney's Aristocats Kids.

The feline adventure tells of Madame's jealous butler Edgar who abducts Duchess and her Aristokittens, abandoning them in the Parisian countryside.

Fortunately, Thomas O'Malley and his rag-tag bunch of alley cats come the rescue.

Favourite tunes include The Aristocats, Scales and Arpeggios and Ev'rybody Wants To Be a Cat.

Tickets are priced at £7 for shows on June 27 and 28. Start time is 7pm.

Tribute bands

TRIBUTES to AC/DC and Dire Straits are at the Tackeroo this weekend. Hells Bells play at the Bracken Close, Brindley Heath venue tomorrow night (Friday) followed by Dire Streets the following evening. Admission to both is £5.

Comedian 'Chubby' on stage

OUTRAGEOUS comedian Roy 'Chubby' Brown brings his brand of humour to Cannock's Prince of Wales Centre next month. He will be performing at the Church Street venue on Wednesday, July 11 from 8pm.

Tickets are priced at £20 but the easily offended are warned to stay away. Call the box office for more details on 01543 578762.

Disney's Beauty and the Beast is the subject of this summer's workshop at the Prince of Wales Centre.

Run by Ambient Night Productions, the cost of the workshop, from August 13 to 24, is £120.

It culminates in a stage performance from 7pm on Saturday, August 24. Tickets are £7 and available from box office. Call 01543 578762 to book a place on the workshop.

Evening of C&W

A COUNTRY and western evening will take place at the Five Ways Inn, Heath Hayes on Sunday (June 17).

It starts at 8.15pm and events will follow every second Sunday. Entry is £2.

For more, call John Wildwood on 07552 695752.

Into Orbit: A Culture Show Special
BBC2, 8pm
In 2010, an intriguing sight began to take shape in the southern area of the Olympic Park in London, reaching its full height in November of last year. The ArcelorMittal Orbit is the UK's largest ever sculpture, and is a great, swooping, twisted frame resembling a nightmarish rollercoaster and housing two observation platforms, which will afford visitors an unparalleled view of the city during the Olympics and beyond. In this special edition of The Culture Show, exclusive interviews help to tell the story of Orbit.

True Love
BBC1, 10.25pm
When actors are asked what attracted them to a certain role, they usually insist it was the strength of the writing. However, the big names in this new series can't use that line, as they didn't even see a script. So, maybe it was the chance to work with Bafta-winning director Dominic Savage convinced them to sign up for True Love. It explores five overlapping love stories, all set against the backdrop of the same town. The first focuses on Nick (David Tennant), who appears devoted to his wife Ruth and their children – until his first love Serena re-appears.

The Ampera can run for 50 miles on electric power, then another 310 miles on petrol

Electric Vauxhall joining in car-sharing scheme

Car-sharing company Zipcar has announced a pilot partnership with Vauxhall that sees the all-new electric Ampera join its fleet of self-service, pay-as-you-go vehicles for the next six months.

It's the first time in the UK that a car-sharing club has offered an extended-range electric vehicle (E-REV), and Zipcar members will be able to reserve the Ampera online or using their smartphones.

European Car of the Year for 2012, the Ampera can travel free of tailpipe emissions for up to 50 miles, after which it shifts to a petrol generator that produces electricity to keep it going for an additional 310 miles on a full tank of petrol.

Because many trips taken by Zipcar members are less than 35 miles, it is anticipated that a large number of journeys will use electric power only.

Stewart Gibbs, Vauxhall's new business fleet sales manager, says: "With the Ampera, Vauxhall has brought to market the first electric vehicle that can go anywhere anytime.

"It's a vehicle designed to lower emissions and boost fuel economy, and partnering with an innovative company like Zipcar, who is committed to helping the environment, is a partnership we're delighted to be involved with."

Chevrolet takes control with its handy new Cruze

Low CO2 emissions means free first year road tax with the latest version of the Chevrolet Cruze

ECONOMY travel needn't be basic – and the latest version of the race-proven Chevrolet Cruze is the proof, thanks to the addition of a new fuel-efficient, low CO2 engine that gives the model even broader appeal to both private and fleet customers alike.

With CO2 emissions of just 117g/km, the newcomer qualifies for free road tax for the first year and a benefit-in-kind tax commitment of just 17 per cent.

Coupled to Chevrolet's traditional high specification and keen pricing, that makes the latest Cruze one of the best value five-door family hatchbacks on the road.

Yet despite its excellent fuel economy, the Cruze 1.7 VCDi offers the kind of performance you wouldn't expect from a car with such low emissions. Developing 130PS and 300Nm of torque, it accelerates from 0-60mph in 9.4 seconds and has a top speed of 124mph.

Details at a glance

Engine: 1686cc, 4-cyl, DOHC 16v
Power Output: 130PS @ 4,000rpm
Torque: 300Nm @ 2,000-2,500rpm
Fuel Economy: mpg (Urban/Extra-urban/combined) 51.3/72.4/62.7
CO2 emissions: 117g/km
Emissions Class: Euro V
0-60mph: 9.4secs
Top Speed: 124mph

Market

Chevrolet UK Managing Director Mark Terry said: "The new 1.7 VCDi gives Chevrolet a real opportunity to compete in the core area of the five-door hatchback market, where tax implications, fuel economy and CO2 emissions are critical. Already a hit with private buyers, this new engine gives Cruze a much broader appeal to fleets and really helps underline our commitment to growth in this key business area.

With the five-door now established in the market and a Station Wagon imminent, the Cruze range keeps getting better and better, and is just what our customers and dealers are requesting."

Three trim levels will be available, with equipment identical to comparable models in the Cruze line-up. The entry-level LS, which comes with such features as air conditioning, ESC, remote central locking, follow-me-home headlamps, electrically-adjustable mirrors and electric front windows, is priced at £16,725, while the mid-range LT is £17,825.

The range topping LTZ, priced at £18,685, is one of the best-equipped cars in its class, with standard cruise control, 17-inch alloys, auto-dimming mirror, automatic headlights, climate control, rain-sensing wipers and aluminium-effect interior detailing.

Available initially in the five-door Cruze, a Station Wagon variant of the 1.7 VCDi model will appear later in 2012, giving the car even greater appeal to fleet and retail customers.

The limited edition Myvi will be fitted with striking 17" Wolfrace Brooklands alloy wheels

Perodua's Myvi range limited to 10 models

PERODUA are pleased to launch the exciting new Myvi Wolfrace Design following the introduction of the concept late last year.

This exclusive new limited edition, of which only ten units will be built, has been created as a result of a collaboration between Perodua and Wolfrace Wheels (UK) Limited to design a vehicle that maintains Perodua's great value for money combined with the style and appeal of the award winning Wolfrace brand.

The final design and specification allows Perodua to offer the Myvi Wolfrace Design at a fantastic price whilst maintaining the key Wolfrace features that were seen on the concept vehicle.

This limited edition Myvi will be fitted with striking 17" Wolfrace Brooklands alloy wheels along with a silver and red graphics kit including stripes along both sides of the vehicle, with chequered flags, Wolfrace Design logo to the rear doors and Wolfrace logo on the tailgate.

Exclusive black and silver Wolfrace Design front entry guards will also be featured which will be individually numbered from one to ten.

This is, of course, all in addition to the high standard specification seen across the Myvi range which includes air conditioning, four electric windows, electrically adjustable door mirrors, power steering, integrated radio/CD player and much more. All owners of a Myvi Wolfrace Design limited edition will also receive a free Wolfrace travel mug.

Just ten people will become the owner of a limited edition Myvi Wolfrace Design which is available for only £7,999 representing exceptional value for money given the high level of specification. There will also be the option of a luxurious sport style leather/alcantara interior for an additional £1,000 which will further enhance the vehicle's appeal. Available in manual transmission, the Myvi Wolfrace Design will be available in a choice of either Ebony Black or Medallion Grey

The new BMW 7 Series is the company's flagship four door saloon and boasts many refinements

Luxury a BMW byword

BMW has released details of its new 7 Series luxury saloon, a firm favourite with chauffeurs and high-end executives.

This update of the flagship four-door brings few major changes, but the many refinements throughout its design are designed to make it more comfortable, more economical and more luxurious.

Externally the car is 8mm lower than before and wears the latest version of BMW's 'kidney' grille. Small chrome details on the front and rear bumpers and a deeper shade of red for the rear light clusters accentuate how small the exterior changes are.

Inside the cabin looks much the same as well, but extra soundproofing has been added around the B and C pillars, the sills and the boot area.

Variable-colour ambient lighting is also new and there are myriad options for audio, communications and materials. Most of the key technological and luxury highlights are optional, allowing each 7 Series to be effectively customised to the needs of each specific buyer.

The entry-level 730d will be popular in Britain, now featuring a 254bhp six-cylinder diesel and costing £58,115.

There is also a 740d with a stunning 309bhp version of the same engine for a £7,190 premium. CO2 emissions are sub-150g/km for all the diesels.

On the petrol side, the range starts with the 316bhp six-cylinder 740i, an engine that's also used in the 'ActiveHybrid7', otherwise known as the 7 Series hybrid.

A 55bhp electric motor is added to the drivetrain and allows electric-only running for short spells and reduces CO2 to 158g/km. It starts at £11,025 more than the 730d.

Stylish new Boxster is such a smooth operator

By Ian Donaldson

STATEMENTS get no more dramatic than this: "Without the Boxster, Porsche would have gone to the wall." That, from a biggish-wig in the sports car company's UK team is proper horse's mouth stuff.

Or how about this, from an even bigger-wig: "Frankly, without it we would not be here in the way we are today."

Which likely means that if the original Boxster of 1996 had been a sales flop the company would long ago have been taken over, or perhaps sunk beneath the waves.

Since then, if you follow these things, you'll know that Porsche has indeed been taken over (by the VW Group) but that had all to do with some shaky corporate stock market play and nothing at all to do with the Boxster.

Back in the Nineties Porsche was a company apparently heading fast for the wall, trying to sell a very limited range of very expensive cars (the 911) and in desperate need of something with pedigree but at a much more accessible price.

By sharing lots of bits with the dearer 911 (down to the doors – penny pinching was that exercised) the Boxster appeared in time to turn the tide.

It looked good, had the right specification on paper (crucially for Porsche fans, a six-cylinder engine in flattened formation behind the driver) and, best of all, it was better, much better to drive than any of the opposition.

Trick

Porsche had gone to the top of the reasonably affordable roadster tables without even working their way up the junior leagues first.

Now comes Boxster version three (number two was a lightish reworking of the original) and perhaps the hardest trick for its maker to pull off was not making it better to drive than the recently renewed 911 range, which cost at least £33,000 more.

They are fine cars and have a couple of child-friendly seats in the rear that the Boxster lacks, but after a wonderful morning in the Welsh hills with the new junior Porsche it's hard to see how anything with four wheels could be more fun to drive.

The more aggressively styled newcomer arrives in two flavours, fast (plain Boxster for £37,589) or even faster (Boxster S for £45,384) and with a slick manual gearbox or seven-speed auto (£1,922). Both are a little longer, lower yet lighter than before but no wider, which is good news on Britain's twistier roads, where they ought to shine.

Economy

The cheaper car is about £1,000 more than before, the S is up £1,500. Added standard kit makes them about as good value as the older models, though.

The engine for the entry-level car (a comparative term, I know) is actually 200cc smaller than before, at 2.7 litres, but produces a little more power (261bhp) and useful improvements in economy, pollutants and performance.

It's the same story with the Boxster S, with its engine (staying at 3.4 litres) but doing more with the cubic capacity and producing 311bhp. It will hit 173mph, against the mere 163mph of the less expensive car. Which ought to be enough.

I enjoyed both versions over some challenging roads and it didn't take long to discover both are blessed with an almost supernatural ability to make rough roads smooth and every well sighted corner a delicious challenge.

You don't need to be travelled all that fast either, to appreciate the class act the new Boxster twins represent. The Porsche engineers have dug deep and built a car that's more pure enjoyment than anything near the price.

Watch out, (much) dearer Porsche 911. Watch out, potential Boxster buyers, for an options list so tempting its ridiculously easy to add £10,000 to the bottom line. Keep it simple and keep smiling.

Winner is in a race to defend Dash title

FLORETTE Lichfield Dash winner Elliot Giles faces a race against time to defend his title.

The 18-year-old Birchfield Harrier has an Achilles tendon injury, but is still hoping to make the start line.

"I can't wait to be back in Lichfield again for the Dash and, hopefully, to claim the title once again," he said.

"Winning in 2011 was very special and this year there's set to be an even bigger crowd as the torch will pass through before the race, so I simply have to be there."

The event takes place on Saturday, June 30 from 10am. This year the Florette Lichfield Dash features a full programme of events leading up to the main race at noon, officially started by Roger Black MBE.

There will be entertainment for all the family, including street dancing performances by the Elite School of Performing Arts, displays by the Tennis Freestyle Team and a sponsored bikeathon with staff from Lichfield Health and Fitness Club.

Entries for all races are available via www.kpevents.net

Golden girl Denise in family plea

OLYMPIC golden girl Denise Lewis is urging families to try out sports for free.

The 2000 heptathlon gold medalist, brought up in Wolverhampton, is backing Discover Decathlon Day.

Sports store Decathlon, at Gallagher Retail Park, Wednesbury is throwing open its doors on Sunday – Fathers' Day – to give families the chance to enjoy taster sessions free. Sports on offer include archery, basketball and table-tennis.

Decathlon UK ambassador Lewis said: "I've always had a passion for trying new sports. But as a busy mum of three I'm also aware of how hard it can be to find the time. That's why I'm delighted to be supporting Discover Decathlon Day."

The top and bottom of it for twin racers

Motorcycling

MOTORCYCLING twins Matthew and Kurt Wigley finished top and bottom in the ACU Sorrymate endurance championship at Anglesey.

The 16-year-olds had the fastest lap of any of the 600cc entrants, with only four of the 1,000cc riders ahead of them.

But they registered a cruelly unlucky 'did not finish' when heavy rain saw Kurt called in for a tyre change just as the race was cut short, having reached the deadline for circuit time.

It was tough luck on the pair, who have been racing motorbikes since the age of six and spent a full season in French Superstocks last year.

But the timing sheets brought consolation, revealing them to be the quickest of the 600cc section and fifth fastest overall.

The pair were taking part in their first three-hour endurance on new Yamaha R6 bikes and were backed in the event by Chase Accident Repairs.

The machines appeared to handle extremely well considering they had very little work done to them to get them into race trim.

During qualifying for the race new tyres were needed, but a tight budget meant a shift from the usual Pirellis and the alternatives affected the handling.

After numerous changes to set-up in an attempt to stop the slides in the corners, times improved.

It was also the first time the twins had ridden as a team and not as rivals.

They qualified ninth on the grid with a mix of both 600cc and 1000cc riders and were the second-fastest 600cc team.

The start of the race was a traditional Le Mans affair with the bikes all lined up down one side of the track and the rider having to run across the track and fire up the machinery.

Kurt was the runner while Matthew held the bike. Both riders got used to their new tyres during the race and improved on their times.

Kurt highsided in the first lap, but managed to get back to the pits quickly to tag Matthew to enable him to go out on circuit.

Later through the race Matthew was taken off by a back marker in a bend, but again, got back to the pits to tag Kurt.

All through the race the pair had excellent pace and continued to carve their way through the pack.

But the British weather had the final say with rain prompting the tyre changecall which led to that unfortunate DNF.

There's no pressure, new manager is told

CHASETOWN today told new manager Craig Harris he's under no pressure to restore the club to the Evo-Stik Northern Premier League at the first attempt.

Former Scholars captain Harris replaced Chris Brindley last month as permanent boss as the club were relegated after two seasons in non-league's third tier.

The club had financially backed Brindley and his predecessor Charlie Blakemore in a bid to stay afloat.

By Craig Birch

Eight players were under contract for the last campaign but it still backfired.

The Scholars have now been restored to the level they were promoted from two years ago, the Evo-Stik Northern Premier League First Division South.

They will cut their cloth accordingly and getting the team stable on the pitch again is the manager's first directive, chief executive Mick Joiner insists.

He said: "We never put that pressure on any manager and we never have, Craig has been told that as his predecessors were.

"We want to see a drive and Craig is quite keen to get us re-established at the level, at least in the upper reaches of the league.

"There's no point putting pressure on him, he's got a fresh start and the expectancy is that we win more than we lose.

"Our number one priority, at the moment, is to build a squad of players who are hungry and want to do well for the club."

Chasetown's meteoric rise saw them climb two levels from the Midland Alliance before the club's first-ever relegation.

A 4-4 draw in the final game of the campaign at already-doomed Burscough sealed their fate and forced them into a backward step.

Part of Harris' memo was to lift the gloom at the Scholars Ground and get the team back into a forward-thinking mode again.

But, for now, the pain of the drop is still being felt as the Scholars regroup.

And Joiner revealed that, right up until the last day, the club believed they would beat the drop only to be, ultimately, proved wrong.

He said: "We were relatively new at that level, anyway, we were only there for the two seasons.

"Now we have got to get on with it.

"It was the last thing on our mind to get relegated, even up to that last game, but there's point in feeling sorry for ourselves.

"We are accepting the situation, reluctantly."

Danish days ahead for Ryan in pursuit of glory

Ryan Goodwin (front row, No.8) with the England under-18 handball squad at a recent tournament

A YOUNG Cannock sports star is pursuing his dream by going abroad for a year. Ryan Goodwin is hoping to further his handball career in Denmark. He leaves in August and is looking for sponsors.

The current captain of the England under-18 team is looking forward to joining the Great Britain under-21 squad later this year. But Goodwin's ambitions lie further ahead – he hopes to play for GB in the 2016 Olympics in Rio, Brazil.

And with handball far more established on the Continent, Goodwin is heading east. He will attend the handball academy in Aarhus to play the sport, improve his fitness levels, learn Danish and also be trained to become a qualified handball coach. The cost of the 12 months will be in the region of £10,000 and there is no support available from the governing body of the sport.

Goodwin is looking for potential sponsors to help meet the costs and is offering promotional work in return. A sponsor's name and logo would be carried on all his training kit. Contact Wayne Goodwin on 07807 526424.

Edged out in thriller that goes to the wire

Tamworth 143-7, Cannock 138. Tamworth won by five runs

CANNOCK thirds were squeezed out in a Staffs Clubs Division Three thriller.

The visitors' total of 143-7 assumed giant proportions after Cannock stumbled to 10-3 in reply.

But several batsmen chipped in only for the home side to fall agonisingly short.

Winning the toss and fielding first, Cannock restricted Tamworth to 45-1 from the first 25 overs.

Despite the accuracy of the bowling – Ant Wood's 15 overs went for just 19 runs – wickets were hard to come by and Tamworth accelerated with captain Neal Gough (36 not out) and Sean Verity (28) leading the way.

Steve Varker took 3-35, Ravan Chahal 2-30 and Alex Beamon 1-30 as wickets fell.

An early run-out saw Cannock's reply falter. But a recovery followed with useful knocks from Andy Elliott (18), Kev Pearce (24), Ryan Peach (28) and Wood (21).

With 10 overs left, Cannock required 28 runs with just two wickets in hand.

But as the tension built, Tamworth kept their nerve and took the last wickets to claim a narrow win. Cory Green and Kate Barton each claimed three wickets.

Cannock Sunday Colts 137-7, St Georges U15 138-9. St Georges won by one wicket

The Colts slipped to their first defeat of the season at home to St Georges – but nearly took an extraordinary victory.

The visitors were coasting with just seven runs to get and six wickets in hand when five wickets fell for one run to leave Tamworth sweating on 133-9 before Matthew Lees and Shoaib Sajjad got them home.

Cannock had been put in and made a good start with a stand of 59 between Ryan Peach (26) and Dan Wood (24).

Alex Rowe added 28 but wickets fell as Cannock tried to quicken the pace. Alex Beaman made 21 and the innings closed on 137-7 with Ravan Chahal 13 not out.

A wicket in the first over for Rowe (1-18) gave Cannock a good start before Jack Heath (45) and Alex Dillon (32) took control.

The introduction of Wood changed the balance as he removed them in a spell of 3-21. A quickfire 19 from Chris Birkett almost had St Georges home and dry before the late drama.

Successful run comes to an end

Oswestry 285-8, Penkridge 144-8. Draw

PENKRIDGE'S winning start to the season came to an end with a losing draw away to fellow title contenders Oswestry.

After winning the toss and fielding, Penkridge had their rivals in trouble at 168-7.

However the game was turned on its head with an eighth-wicket stand of 91 and Oswestry finished on an imposing a 285-8, with only Ross Shelton (4-41) of the Penkridge bowlers gaining too much credit.

Things looked bleak for Penkridge as they slumped to 97-7 with 18 overs left. But a solid 30 from Chad Clarke and a determined 29 not out by Kevin Baker staved off defeat and kept them top of the league.

Whitchurch 240, Penkridge 148-7. Draw

A depleted seconds ground out a losing draw at home to Whitchurch.

Faisal Nadeem (3-85) and Andy Lawson (3-38) were the pick of the Penkridge bowlers, but more than 40 extras allowed Whitchurch to post a good total. Penkridge never got going but a determined 41 not out from Steve Jones and 17 not out saved them. The thirds and fourths were rained off.

Tennis club celebrate centenary

WALSALL Tennis Club is to host a mixed doubles tournament with a difference as the Birmingham Road club marks its centenary on Saturday.

The tournament will run from noon to 2pm and feature men in long trousers and fake moustaches and women in demure long dresses and bonnets, as worn in 1912.

Wooden rackets and white tennis balls will be used.

Spectators can dress appropriately and enjoy afternoon tea.

Former club president Winnie Beebee, who joined the club in 1919, wrote in 1983: "A group of friends combined in 1912 and rented a single court located in the garden of Mr and Mrs Austin of Charlemont Road.

"Founder members included our former president Mr RT Palmer and his wife. There were soon too many members so that around 1918 new premises were found at the present Birmingham Road site."

Rugeley player Jamie Simmons in sevens action

All set for sevens contest

Rugeley Rugby Club

RUGBY teams across Staffordshire are gearing up for Rugeley Rugby Club's annual seven-a-side tournament.

Defending champions Cannock are looking to retain their crown but they will face stiff competition from local clubs as well as teams from further afield, including the 2010 winners Welsh Wizards, an invitational side.

The tournament, in its third year, received a boost this week with the announcement of Staffordshire law firm Ansons LLP as title sponsors.

The event will be known as the Ansons LLP Sevens and take place on Saturday, June 23 at St Augustine's Field, Rugeley. Entrants include Wheaton Ashton, Eccleshall, Barton under Needwood, Whittington and Stafford College.

Rugeley chairman Carl Johnson said: "The event goes from strength to strength and it's brilliant to see a local business being prepared to support us.

"Everybody who came along last year really enjoyed themselves and I am quietly confident that this year's event will be bigger and better for both players and spectators alike.

"We will be using all proceeds from the event to continue the re-furbishment of our clubhouse in time for the start of the new season in September. "

Ansons' marketing partner Marie Tisdale said: "Ansons is proud to be associated with a community sports club and to give our name to what has become a successful tournament.

"With this being Olympic year, we feel it is brilliant to get behind grass roots sport. I understand that by the time of the Rio Olympics, rugby sevens will be an Olympic sport.

"Rugeley do a lot of work to promote rugby in the local community and we hope that the money raised from this event and our sponsorship will enable them to continue to do so."

Batsmen dig in to hold on for draw

Old Wulfrunians 202-7, Cannock & Rugeley 136-8. Draw

DOGGED resistance enabled Cannock & Rugeley firsts to hold out for a draw against Old Wulfrunians at Tettenhall.

Cannock and Rugeley won the toss and put the home side in for a game reduced by rain to 40 overs a side.

Old Wulfrunians finished on 202-7 with Jamie Acaster top-scoring with 58. Bowlers struggled, but Martin Weston took 2-46 and Jim Taylor 2-35.

In reply, Cannock and Rugeley couldn't match the run rate and wickets fell quickly. But they held on for a draw at 136-8, Adam Lawley top-scoring with 28. Matthew Willder took 4-32 and Nathan Barker 2-39.

Old Wulfrunians 147-8, Cannock & Rugeley 74-7. Draw

It was much the same story for the seconds, batting out for a losing draw.

But Cannock & Rugeley will regard this as one that got away after winning the toss, choosing to field and seeing Jock Caan dismiss openers Matt Truran and Kelvyn Brookes in the first over.

But they proved to be Caan's only wickets as Old Wulfs' middle order dug in with Michael Wright's 45 the top score.

They reached 149-8 as Shaun Aston claimed 4-44.

In a disappointing batting display, only Luke Farley (16), Steve Benton (28 not out) and Lewis Aston (16) made double figures and it took a rearguard action from Benton and skipper Adrian Aston to see C&R to the safety of 74-7.

Hawkins 191, Cannock & Rugeley 105-7. Draw

As with the firsts and seconds, so too with the thirds, holding on for a draw but not threatening victory.

Hawkins' total of 191 was dominated by Zahed Akhtar, who was cruelly run out on 98, and opener Josh Speake who made 42. No other batsman reached double figures.

Tim Thelwell (4-52) was the hosts' best bowler.

C&R's reply was disappointing, getting off to a poor start and never recovering. Rakesh Mistry (27 not out), James Waddell (13) and Nigel Skyte (13 not out) were the only batsmen to show as they blocked out for a draw at 105-7.

Kaseem Kazim (3-11) and Andrew Bristow (2-9) bowled well for the visitors.

Height penalty knocks pair off medal places

ACROBATIC gym stars in Cannock are celebrating a successful British championships – including a title triumph.

South Staffs Acrobatics and Gymnastics Club sent 13 competitors to Fenton Manor, Stoke for the British National Development Plan championships. All had qualified as West Midlands champions.

And the stars of the weekend for the club, based at Hawks Green, Cannock were 15-year-old Sophie May, 14-year-old Shannon Barber and Beth Draisey, aged 11.

Although they have been competing together for just under a year, the trio won the grade three women's group category with two excellent routines.

After their first performance, the girls were easily in the lead and a strong balance routine in the afternoon sealed their victory in being crowned British champions.

All the club's entrants made the top nine in Great Britain, despite this being the first national championships for most of them.

Stunning

Lucy Vickers and Sammy-Jo Burlton made a nervous start in their grade three women's pairs balance routine. But they were near-faultless in the tempo routine and finished eighth.

The grade two trio of Lauren Dodd, Charlie Dyson and Ella Kolk were first to perform in the category and demonstrated a stunning routine. They were only pushed down to fifth by the last two competitors.

In the grade one women's pairs, Mya Bailey and Kaiya Leech finished sixth overall.

Acrobatics

They later teamed up with Chloe Wilde to represent the region in the grade one women's groups.

The girls performed another fine routine to finish in sixth place.

Next up were the grade two partnership of Catherine Cane and Emily Kolk.

They began with an unexpected deduction of 0.3 points for too much difference in their height which, despite a stunning routine, knocked them out of the bronze medal position.

South Staffs Acrobatics and Gymnastics Club is open to children of all ages and abilities. Officials are looking to expand its cheerleading section and hope this will become as successful as the acrobatics squad.

They are looking for girls aged seven and up with previous experience in competitive gymnastics.

Anyone interested in a trial for the cheerleading squad should call Vicki Chilton on 07838 386823.

Hawkins' haul helps to bring a rare win

Cannock (24pts) 142-9, Water Orton (4pts) 108. Cannock won by 34 runs

FIVE wickets for Andy Hawkins helped Cannock firsts to only their second Birmingham League Division Two victory of the season.

He took 5-23 as the visitors successfully defended a low total.

Asked to bat first in good bowling conditions, the Cannock batsmen applied themselves to post 142-9 from their 55 overs.

Sean Collings (32) and John Cooke (20) gave them a steady start and were supported by sound batting from Hawkins (31) and James Caswell (21)

Cannock needed to bowl well to stand a chance of success.

Edward Fleet (2-27) and Jack Twigger (3-17) took the early wickets.

Late order batting by Grant Roscorla (29) and Richard Morgan (37) gave the home team some hope.

But Hawkins tore through the lower middle order and tail as Cannock, aided by some fine catching, took the win.

PITMEN BOSS AFTER SECOND DEFENDER

HEDNESFORD boss Rob Smith today revealed he's still looking for reinforcements in central defence despite picking up Sam Barnes from league rivals Marine.

The 20-year-old is on board for next season after signing for the Pitmen but Smith still wants another stopper after losing Cheyenne Dunkley to Kidderminster Harriers.

But Barnes has arrived at Keys Park with some pedigree.

by Craig Birch

The former Liverpool schoolboys player came through the youth system at Stockport in the Football League and had trials for Everton and Manchester United as a teenager.

Barnes made two first-team appearances in League One for the Hatters and arrives at his third Evo-Stik Northern Premier League club, having also served Northwich last year.

And Smith will be telling his new arrival the club can be his platform back to the top, citing Dunkley as an example of how to get back into the full-time game.

The former Crewe trainee dropped into semi-pro football to make a name for himself and excelled with the Pitmen before he was spotted by Harriers.

Smith said: "Sam has an excellent pedigree and a very good attitude. He will be a leader for us on the pitch but I will be looking for at least one, possibly two more signings in defence.

"Cheyenne can fulfil his undoubted potential at Kidderminster. He has everything in place, he just needs to develop and will do with full-time football.

"It shows that we can develop players and that scouts regularly attend Keys Park, that can only improve our chances when looking for further young talent to join our club."

Dunkley played in front of Dan Crane last season and the trusted goalkeeper will be staying at Keys Park for the next year after signing a new deal.

But Smith wants more out of the 28-year-old during the next campaign and has challenged his No 1 to prove he deserves the jersey.

The Pitmen boss added: "Dan Crane needs to recapture the form he had two seasons ago. If he does that, he is an important member of the squad."

While Crane has been challenged to hit new heights with the Pitmen, striker Danny Quinn has been told he will not be offered a new deal.

The 21-year-old was farmed out on loan to Mickleover Sports and Chasetown last season and has seen three new strikers arrive at the club since.

The Pitmen have pinned their hopes on Michael Lennon, Neil Harvey and Aaron Rey and it leaves no place for Quinn.

Twins' chances dampened by weather

Cannock motorcyclist Kurt Wigley, pictured, and his 16-year-old twin brother Matthew are usually rivals on track. But the two linked up for an endurance event at Anglesey. The pairing showed plenty of pace – but it was the treacherous British weather that ended up having the final word. Full story – Page 90

Grant will allow club to create new teams

THREE new girls football teams are to be created in Hednesford.

The move comes after Hednesford United Girls FC won a £5,000 Grow the Game grant from the Football Foundation, the country's largest sports charity.

The cash will allow the club to increase its level of participation, creating three new teams from under-eight to under-10 level over the next two seasons.

The money will also fund coaching courses and welfare checks.

The aim of Grow the Game is to increase participation at grassroots level. It involves all 46 county FAs and is funded by both the FA and Government.

So far, Grow the Game has awarded 894 grants worth £4,354,926.

HUGFC club welfare office Dave Fawdon said: "This significant grant from the Football Foundation will allow the club to create a sustainable future by developing additional teams at the earliest age groups for girls' football in the county."

Paul Thorogood, Football Foundation chief executive, said: "I congratulate Hednesford United Girls FC for receiving this Grow the Game grant."
